

The junior organiser's season

How the GolfSixes League app supports each stage

Your home screen changes as the league progresses. This guide explains what appears, why it appears and what you are expected to do - from confirming your club details to checking in players and following scores.

In the week before a fixture, the focus shifts to the team and its family confirmations. On the day you host, registration becomes the main task.

Planning / Team selection / Hosting / Match day

Prepared for the Golf Foundation. Screens show fictional demonstration records from the app. This is a product guide, not an official Golf Foundation publication.

What needs your attention now

The home page responds to the state of your club, the fixture list and the date. It is not a checklist that must be completed once in a fixed order.

First visitConfirm your club's details.

03

The club form is the main screen until you confirm it.

League planningInvite players and offer hosting dates.

04-05

Approve team places while the Foundation plans the fixtures.

Fixtures publishedPrepare your team for the next event.

06-07

Registration may remain the priority if the fixture is still some way off.

The week beforeResolve selections and family replies.

08-10

Withdrawals or incomplete selections need attention. Hosts also check event readiness.

Match day: hostingRegister children and manage changes.

11-12

The host's home screen opens the registration desk for the event.

During and after playFollow scores and check results.

13-14

Scoring opens on the fixture date. After the event, prepare for the next fixture.

These activities overlap. Publishing fixtures does not close player registration, and a late withdrawal can become the most urgent task even after a team has been submitted.

Confirm your club

You join through an invitation linked to your club. If you belong to more than one club, you can switch between them; a single-club organiser does not need a club selector.

LET'S GET STARTED

Welcome to the South Derbyshire League.

Before we get going, please confirm your club's details. If you don't have them all yet, don't worry — you can update them at any point.

Anything visiting families need to know?

Follow the junior golf signs from the main car park. Meet beside the practice putting green. Trainers are welcome.

For example, where to park or which entrance to use.

Confirm details & continue →

First visit: your team and cap colour sit above the club details to check.

Check and confirm

Review the club name, address, website and visitor information. Check the listed teams and cap colours. Add welfare and SafeGolf information where available.

You can return later

You do not have to know every detail immediately. Confirm what you have, then use My club to make later changes. On-screen guidance points you to that option.

Foundation administrators set up the league and its team entries. Junior organisers maintain their club and players. Parents maintain their children and respond to invitations and availability requests.

Invite families and build the squad

The joining panel and the player list have different jobs. One helps you invite families; the other shows who needs a decision and who is already in the team.

It's time to invite your players.

Your next actions

Send parents the joining link. As applications arrive, review the child's details, take account of sibling requests and approve the appropriate team place.

What a team place means

This adds the child to the squad. It does not select them for every fixture. You will choose a smaller playing team, its pairs and any reserves for each event.

Keep inviting and approving players for as long as registration is open. Fixture publication and player registration are separate controls; the season can be under way while new children join.

Offer dates your club could host

While parents register children, tell the Foundation when your club can host. These are provisional offers, not confirmed fixtures.

While families register, tell us when Burton-on-Trent Golf Club could host. These are possible dates, not confirmed fixtures.

Anything else for the league administrator?

Clubhouse available after play. Please agree final dates with us.

Mention any dates that cannot include food or a presentation, or any arrangements still to be confirmed.

Save availability changes

Offer more possible dates than the number of matches you can host.

What you provide

Choose a hosting capacity of zero, one, two or three matches. Add as many suitable dates as possible, plus shotgun-start, food and presentation-evening information.

How the dates are used

The Foundation reviews all clubs' offers, suggests a schedule and adjusts it before publication. Capacity, spacing, host rotation and a presentation at the final inform the plan.

Your offers → Foundation reviews all clubs → proposed fixtures are reviewed → the fixture list is published. A provisional date does not mean your club has been selected to host on that date.

A modified shotgun can use overlapping six-hole routes, such as holes 1-6, 2-7 and 3-8. Discuss a workable arrangement with your club; the hosting guidance explains this option.

The home screen changes

Once the Foundation publishes the list, fixtures become available to prepare. The next action still depends on how near the event is and whether your team is ready.

The fixture, date and outstanding team work take priority. Choose the players, publish the selection and follow up family confirmations or withdrawals.

After publication, changes to hosting dates belong with the Foundation administrator. The planning availability form is no longer the main task. Scoring actions appear on the fixture date, not simply because the list has been published.

Submit selection & notify families

► Availability & family replies

The selection board groups players into pairs and keeps reserves separate.

Arrange the team

Review available children first and follow up missing replies. Add players to pairs, move them between pairs or remove them. A suggested lineup is a starting point for your review.

Submit and follow up

Choose reserves and submit the selection to notify families. Check their confirmations. If a child withdraws, review a replacement and update the selection.

Three different decisions: a squad place belongs to the team; a selection belongs to one fixture; a starting slot places a pair at a hole and time. Selecting a pair does not yet allocate its start.

Coordinate the whole event

Hosting adds responsibilities to your usual team selection. You see all participating teams, while visiting organisers continue to choose their own players.

No organiser assigned. Ask the Foundation administrator to invite one.

The host sees which teams are ready and where an organiser still needs to be assigned.

Get the visiting teams ready

"Awaiting complete selection" means that team's organiser still needs to submit its lineup. Use Chase organiser to request it. If nobody is assigned, ask the Foundation to arrange an organiser.

Give families clear instructions

Maintain arrival and start times, directions, parking, meeting point and food arrangements in Match details. These host instructions are shown to families even when they belong to another club.

You can manage your own team and coordinate the event's starting groups. Hosting does not make another club's team yours to select. Foundation administrators can oversee all teams and event arrangements.

Parents can contact their own team organiser or the host. Messages to the host also involve the child's team organiser, keeping the people responsible for the child informed.

Turn pairs into starting groups

Prepare the starts before the event. The starting-order panel defines the format and capacity; the suggested allocations then arrange the submitted pairs.

Starting-slot excerpt: review the groups, then save the allocations.

The suggestion aims to fill groups without leaving a pair alone and to mix teams and clubs where possible. Check the result against your course arrangements and the available selections; adjust the allocations before saving.

Prepare for arrivals

As the date approaches, the organiser's work becomes more practical: make sure families know they are playing and the host has an accurate list to use at registration.

Every team organiser

Resolve missing family confirmations. Replace withdrawals where necessary. Check the pairing and reserve list, and make sure families can find the host's instructions.

The host organiser

Check visiting selections and starting groups. Prepare optional registration questions, such as a meal choice. Print tickets after reviewing the latest allocations.

Printable player tickets can be cut up before the event and handed out at check-in.

What the ticket is for

Give the child a physical reminder of their starting hole, tee time and playing partner. You can print the set before arriving at the club, or print an individual ticket when needed.

Registration questions are optional. A club offering a fixed menu can record a choice without typing notes; a club with no meal service need not add questions. If an allocation changes, replace the affected tickets.

Your home screen becomes the registration desk

On the date of a published fixture you host, arrivals take priority. Open the app in the clubhouse and find each child as they come in.

Find and check in

Start typing a first name, surname or club. Select the correct child and mark them as arrived. Record any configured meal choices or registration checks.

Tell them where to go

Read out the starting hole, time and partner. The card also shows others in the starting group. Hand over a printed ticket and explain any registration note.

Use the expected and arrived lists to spot missing children. Parent contact details include a readable telephone number as well as a call action, so they work at a laptop or on a phone.

Deal with a withdrawal

A child not coming can leave a pair short or a starting group without another pair. The app helps the host review the consequences before changing the arrangement.

Suggested repairs are reviewed by the organiser; they are not applied silently.

1. Record what has happened

Mark the child as not coming. Review the affected selection and starting group.

2. Review a workable alternative

Options can include using a reserve, splitting a pair to fill an empty card, or moving a pair into another group. Sibling relationships help prioritise suggestions.

3. Speak to the children, then apply

Check that the proposed arrangement is appropriate and agreed. Add a registration note for a child who has not arrived, update the allocation and replace any affected tickets.

Changes to cards that already contain scores are protected. Contact families from the child's registration details if they are late, rather than assuming they have withdrawn.

Follow the live scores

Scoring becomes available on the fixture date. There is no separate task to mark the match live before families can reach their scorecards.

A visiting organiser focuses on their team. The host monitors the whole fixture and deals with event issues. Parents access the scorecard relevant to their child’s pair.

Finish the event, then move on

The host checks the completed cards and finalises the results. Team results feed the league standings; the next upcoming fixture then becomes the focus of preparation.

Check before finalising

Review missing or incomplete cards and resolve scoring issues. Live scores are a view of progress, not a substitute for checking the completed event.

Get help when needed

Use Support & reports to contact the assigned Foundation administrator. A fixture incident can be recorded privately; follow the official reporting process where required.
